History of the Center for Criminology and Public Policy Research | Timeline

1951	The Department of Criminology and Corrections in the School of Social Welfare begins to offer criminology courses
1967	School of Criminology and Criminal Justice is established and housed in the Bellamy Building
1968	Southeastern Corrections and Criminological Research Center founded
1979	Southeastern Criminal Justice Training Center founded
M	 The School of Criminology and Criminal Justice becomes the College of Criminology and Criminal Justice
1998	The College of Criminology and Criminal Justice moves to the Hect House
	Juvenile Justice Educational Enhancement Program (JJEEP) founded
1994	The College begins its partnership with the Palm Beach County Criminal Justice Commission
2004	The Center for Criminology and Public Policy Research is formally established
2010	The Center moves into the Hect House on FSU's campus
2012	The Center begins a research-practitioner partnership with the Florida Department of Corrections funded by NIJ
2013	The College of Criminology and criminal justice and the Center move to Historic Eppes Hall
2014	The Center begins a researcher-practioner partnership with the Florida Department of Juvenile Justice funded by NIJ
2018	The Center is reorganized into research institutes focusing on specific aspects of criminological research and the criminal justice system
2018	20 22 22 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2